MEMORANDUM FOR SEE DISTRIBUTION

SUBJECT: Value Engineering (VE)

1. I strongly encourage all commanders to employ VE methodology to improve operations and save dollars. Value Engineering's objective, analytical approach to problem solving is more important than ever - we are within the midst of an extended operation that requires attention, energy, and resources. A relatively small investment of time and attention can identify problem areas and yield solutions that not only save money, but also time and frustration as well.
2. We, as a command, did not meet our first quarter VE savings goal - our attention, properly, was elsewhere. However, now that we are through the initial turbulence, I ask you to bring your VE operations back into focus, and to provide the priority and attention required to be successful.
3. I have asked Mr. Larry V. Gullledge to contact your Civilian Executive Assistants and provide detailed steps to help re-energize the VE Program across the US Army Operations Support Command (OSC).
4. I am proud of OSC's ability to make things happen. Our VE savings goal challenges us to take the steps necessary to make measurable and recurring improvements. I want your personal involvement throughout the remainder of the year to ensure you achieve your VE goal.
